Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 16-18 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim.

Election was made without traverse in the response filed 2/13/04.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gordon et al (Pub US2002/0063081) in view of Nava et al (Patent no. US 6,196,411). In the embodiment of figures 8 and 8A an alternate embodiment is disclosed in Gordon et al where the disc shaped media case 14 serves as a "base" for a container 12. Page 5, paragraph [0067] states the media case 14 can be attached in the same manner as discussed in connection with the other embodiments. In paragraph [0068] the media case "base" is described as being either frictionally or threadably attached to the container. The media case 14 in these embodiments also includes a central post (not numbered) that is shown in the drawings to hold the compact disc. The difference between the claimed subject matter and Gordon et al resides in the case affixed to the base of the beverage container.

Nava et al relates to the packaging art dealing with the problem of providing associated products for a combined function. A beverage container is provided with base cover to hold a second promotional product. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the Gordon et al by employing a beverage container as suggested by Nava et al. The motivation for this combination is to provide a promotional associated with the beverage container.

Art Unit: 3728

As to claim 11, it would have been within the level of ordinary skill to provide any conventional beverage container as a matter of design choice. The motivation for the modification being that one skilled in the art would have found the particular container to be of little criticality as it would be advantageous to use any commercially viable container.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Nedblake Jr. (Patent no. 5,664,671). A beverage container 12 is disclosed with a case defined by container/housing 14 affixed to the container base. Since the case can accommodate what appears to be a hamburger, the case is taken to be capable of the function claimed. A slot is formed in the case by the removal of cover 34 of case 14 where the bottom section 32 has an upper edge forming an opening for insertion of the product.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 2-10 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

7. Claims 12-14 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed February 13, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Claim 15 recites a combination including a case affixed to the base of the beverage container, having a "slot" into which at least one compact disc may be placed.

Applicant disagrees with the examiner, as simply removing cover 34 from the case will not form a slot for insertion of the product. In the package taught by Nedblake, Jr., the case has a cover 34 and a lower section 32. The upper surface of the cover mates with and engages base 20 of the beverage container. Once the case is engaged with the beverage container, it is held into place by a coupling band 16 of shrink-wrap. If cover 34 is removed from the case, then sidewalls 42 of lower section 32 must mate with base 20 of the beverage container. In order to keep sidewalls 42 mated with base 20, the coupling band 16 of shrink-wrap must be used. The shrink-wrap would hold the sidewalls 42 tight to the base 20 and would fill in any minor gaps created between the two. Therefore, there could not possibly be an aperture formed between the sidewalls of the case and the base of the beverage container in which a product may be inserted. Since the case taught by Nedblake, Jr. could not have a slot, as claimed in the present application, Nedblake, Jr. does not anticipate Claim 15.

However, it is believed applicant assigns, or reads, more into the claim than is set forth. A case is recited as "affixed to the base of the beverage container, having (to possess, contain or include)¹ a slot (an opening (a gap, hole, or empty space) into which something may be put)¹ into which at least one compact disc may be placed". Considering the full breath of the claim² it is not seen where Nedblake Jr. fails to include a case that has an empty space, opening or slot into which a compact disc may be placed. Notwithstanding the fact that a coupling band of shrink wrap holds the components of Nedblake together in the final product, the bottom part 32 of case

² Claims are to be given their broadest reasonable during prosecution, see In re Priest, 582 F.2d 33, 37 199 USPQ 11, 15 (CCPA 1978), and limitations from the specification will not be read into the claims, see, e.g. In re Prater, 415 F.2d 1393, 1404-1405, 162 USPQ 541, 550-51 (CCPA 1969). Office personnel are to give claims their broadest reasonable interpretation in light of the supporting disclosure. In re Morris, 127 F.3d 1048, 1054-55, 44 USPQ2d 1023, 1027-28 (Fed. Cir. 1997), see MPEP 2106.

14 clearly incorporates an opening, slot or empty space into which the product 36 is placed prior to final assembly. Accordingly, the rejection is maintained as Claim 15 is anticipated in this sense of the meaning.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
